29 MAY 2025

Last night, over 250 guests from around the world (including France, South America, Mexico and Poland) gathered at the iconic Alfa Romeo Museum in Arese to celebrate the 65th anniversary of Cavanna Packaging Group. The event welcomed customers, partners and representatives from various associations, highlighting the international scope and strength of our network.

The location was chosen as a meeting point between the passion and innovation of Alfa Romeo and the quality and tradition of Cavanna to celebrate the best of 'Made in Italy'. The evening began with an exclusive tour of the museum, offering guests a journey through the history and excellence of Italian automotive design. This was followed by a gala dinner set in the historic museum setting.

During the evening, Alessandra Cavanna, president Riccardo Cavanna and CEO Riccardo Ciambone took the stage to reflect on the most meaningful moments of the company's 65-year journey and to share future perspectives. Their speeches emphasized the ongoing commitment to innovation, sustainability, and the value of long-standing relationships.

Cavanna states it currently sources 40% of its energy from renewable sources, maintains a workplace free of gender gaps, and reports that 57% of the women in the company hold a university degree. It adds that these figures reflect a company culture that is inclusive, forward-thinking, and aligned with modern values.

The evening was a celebration not only of the company's history but also of the people who have contributed to its success. Cavanna "extends its heartfelt thanks to all those who joined us for this important milestone - as we look forward with enthusiasm to the next chapters of our story."

The slogan of the evening is: 'The best is yet to come!'
